

HusebyConnect

Using HusebyConnect from your Mac Computer

The screenshot displays two windows from the HusebyConnect application. The left window, titled "Video", shows a real-time video call between a man and a woman. Below the video is a transcript window with a list of text and timestamps. A pop-up "Add/Edit Bookmark" dialog is visible over the transcript. The right window, titled "Huseby PDF Exhibit & Annotation Tool", shows a technical circuit diagram of a motor controller. A red arrow points to a specific component in the diagram, which is highlighted in yellow. The interface includes various toolbars for editing and annotation, and a "HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL" stamp is visible in the top left of the diagram area.

HusebyConnect Test Link

You'll see a webpage that looks like this:

Click the blue Install Adobe Connect button. If your browser asks if it's ok to download, allow it.

After the download finishes, open the DMG file that downloaded by double-clicking on it. It will be in your Downloads folder and will be named something similar to AdobeConnect_2019.9.2.dmg.

When you double-click on it, the Mac may ask if it's ok to open it, allow that, too.

Once it's open, you'll see a window similar to the one below (though yours might have a white background, not a black one).

Double-click on the AdobeConnectInstaller icon to start the installation. Your computer will ask if it's ok to run that program, let it.

The installation process will complete in less than a minute. At that point, you're ready to join your first HusebyConnect event.

To join the HusebyConnect event, log-in by visiting <https://cloud.huseby.com>.

Your browser will ask you to let it open the Adobe Connect app. Once you allow that, HusebyConnect will start.
